

Christian Dejaco is the Director of the Department of Rheumatology of the South Tyrol Health Trust, and an Associate Professor of the Medical University of Graz.

He has been working in the field of imaging in GCA for more than 10 years, has organized and participated as a speaker and tutor in several national and international imaging courses.

He has been the first author of the EULAR imaging recommendations for LVV, and has been leading several international research projects including EULAR and OMERACT projects in the field of imaging and LVV.

